First reading: Contrasts

Sirach 15:15-20

If you desire, you will keep the commandments, and to act faithfully is a matter of choice. He has placed before you fire and water: stretch out your hand for whichever you wish. Life and death are in front of people, and whichever one chooses will be given to him. For great is the wisdom of the Lord; he is mighty in power and sees everything; his eyes are on those who fear him, and he knows a person's every deed. He has not commanded anyone to be ungodly, and he has not given anyone permission to sin.

Response to the Psalm: Blessed are those who walk in the law of the Lord!

1 Corinthians 2:6-10

Second Reading: The Hidden Wisdom of God

Brothers and Sisters: Among the mature we do impart wisdom, although it is not a wisdom of this age or of the rulers of this age, who are doomed to pass away. But we impart a secret and hidden wisdom of God, which God decreed before the ages for our glory. None of the rulers of this age understood this, for if they had, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory. But, as it is written, 'What no eye has seen, nor ear heard, nor the heart of man imagined, what God has prepared for those who love him' — these things God has revealed to us through the Spirit. For the Spirit searches everything, even the depths of God.

Gospel Acclamation: : Alleluia, alleluia. I thank you, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, you have revealed the secrets of the kingdom to little children. Alleluia.

The Gospel: Jesus teaches the true meaning of the Law

Matthew 5:17-37

At that time: Jesus said to his disciples, 'Do not think that I have come to abolish the Law or the Prophets; I have not come to abolish them but to fulfil them. For truly, I say to you, until heaven and earth pass away, not an iota, not a dot, will pass from the Law until all is accomplished. Therefore whoever relaxes one of the least of these commandments and teaches others to do the same will be called least in the kingdom of heaven, but whoever does them and teaches them will be called great in the kingdom of heaven. For I tell you, unless your righteousness exceeds that of the scribes and Pharisees, you will never enter the kingdom of heaven. 'You have heard that it was said to those of old, "You shall not murder; and whoever murders will be liable to judgement." But I say to you that everyone who is angry with his brother will be liable to judgement; whoever insults his brother will be liable to the council; and whoever says, "You fool!" will be liable to the hell of fire. So if you are offering your gift at the altar and there remember that your brother has something against you, leave your gift there before the altar and go. First be reconciled to your brother, and then come and offer your gift. Come to terms quickly with your accuser while you are going with him to court, lest your accuser hand you over to the judge, and the judge to the guard, and you be put in prison. Truly, I say to you, you will never get out until you have paid the last penny. 'You have heard that it was said, "You shall not commit adultery." But I say to you that everyone who looks at a woman with lustful intent has already committed adultery with her in his heart. If your right eye causes you to sin, tear it out and throw it away. For it is better that you lose one of your members than that your whole body be thrown into hell. And if your right hand causes you to sin, cut it off and throw it away. For it is better that you lose one of your members than that your whole body go into hell. 'It was also said, "Whoever divorces his wife, let him give her a certificate of divorce." But I say to you that everyone who divorces his wife, except on the ground of sexual immorality, makes her commit adultery, and whoever marries a divorced woman commits adultery. 'Again you have heard that it was said to those of old, "You shall not swear falsely, but shall perform to the Lord what you have sworn." But I say to you: Do not take an oath at all, either by heaven, for it is the throne of God, or by the earth, for it is his footstool, or by Jerusalem, for it is the city of the great King. And do not take an oath by your head, for you cannot make one hair white or black. Let what you say be simply "Yes" or "No"; anything more than this comes from evil.'

This is our third week with Matthew Chapter Five; a long road from the Beatitudes. Imagine being part of this crowd; are you already being pulled towards the message of Jesus and will find yourself transformed? Does one part of the message particularly resonate and initiate a slower path to understanding or are you an indignant listener to these challenges of established tradition?

One presumes a certain poetic license on Saint Matthew's part, bringing elements of various sermons of Jesus together or otherwise an incredibly long attention span from the crowd, which would ebb and flow through the hours of talking from the distant figure on the raised ground, gradually darkening and standing in sharp relief against a setting sun. Yet still they stayed.

Today's Gospel is strong meat to digest but there is a very clear logic which threads through all the examples cited. Jesus is not overturning the Law of the Old Testament but rather asking much more of each individual, as equals, in how they internalize its message. Jewish scholar, woman, labourer, fisherman: all must confront the challenge. If the Law has become performative, externalized, exclusive – and who better at this than the righteous Pharisees? – then it is missing the point.

Jesus wants us to grapple with the nuance behind the Law, which is about love of God and love for fellow mankind as a reflection of divine love. We must constantly strive for this true love and generous hearts. The eloquence of elaborate oath taking is worthless against a simple yes from a place of faith. This will not always be easy but it is what is demanded of us.

In Chapter Five Saint Matthew deftly records the seeds being sown for the deadlock between the Messiah and those who refuse to listen and cling to the old authority. There will be more sermons and there will be a slew of miracles but some walls will not come down. There will be a reckoning. It is a reminder to us that we cannot be complacent. Self - examination is required and it is uncomfortable – but we are about to enter the season of Lent after all.
